

Our United Kingdom

Over land, sea and air they did come.

Making new homes here for everyone.

Bringing with them exciting new traditions, colours and cultures to enhance our very own.

A melting pot of wonders to mix with our home grown.

Together we are stronger, divided we will fall.

Best to gaze upon what we have in common, rather than any differences we may have at all.

All creeds, all colours, all religions we are all but one under the heavens.

A kingdom forever united, our United Kingdom.
